

The Sultan and the Kaiser's Net.
Remarkable book by "a very high personage" purports to disclose full story of the alliance. Don't miss this feature in THE SUN to-day. Page 4.
Section 5.

The Sun.

THE WEATHER FORECAST.
Partly cloudy and showery to-day and tomorrow; southerly winds.
Highest temperature yesterday, 83; lowest, 65.
Detailed weather, mail and marine reports on page 15.

VOL. LXXXII.—NO. 307.

NEW YORK, SUNDAY, JULY 4, 1915.—Copyright, 1915, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association.

60 PAGES.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

U.S. ARRESTS HUERTA AGAIN; OROZCO FLEES

Ex-Dictator of Mexico in Jail and Bonds Raised to $30,000.

WILSON WILL ACT IN THE SITUATION SOON

Spends Morning at Summer Home Going Over the Reports.

WINDSOR, Vt., July 3.—President Wilson is preparing to act in Mexican affairs, probably soon. He is carefully reaching conclusions and mature plans. An announcement is expected soon after his return to Washington next week. This was learned to-night from sources close to the President.
To-day the President spent his morning almost exclusively studying the Mexican situation. Before him he had a long confidential report in code from the State Department, delivered to him shortly before midnight last night, and which he waited up to decipher.
It was said that the President was particularly perturbed over the obstacles hindering Red Cross relief work.

EL PASO, July 3.—Gen. Huerta was arrested this afternoon on a warrant from San Antonio, Tex., charging conspiracy to violate the United States neutrality laws. This is a similar charge to that on which he was arrested last Sunday on arrival here. His bond in the San Antonio case was fixed at $15-00, the same as the other case.

Gen. Huerta protested vigorously to the court at his treatment and demanded a message to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court at Washington in protest.

Other arrests made during the afternoon included J. B. Ratner, interpreter for Huerta; Gen. Ignacio Bravo, Gen.
Guillermo Cruz, Gen. Jose Delgado and Jaime Gorostiza. These were all made on complaints filed here, and all are charged with conspiracy to violate the neutrality laws. The bond of each was fixed at $15,000, and attorneys representing the men asked that they be informed at Fort Bliss, instead of locked up in jail, pending the arrangement of bonds.

Army officers announced that if Huerta gave bond they would immediately intern him at Fort Bliss.

Gen. Orozco Escapes.
The arrests followed the discovery this morning that Gen. Pascual Orozco, known under a $7,500 bond and under the guard of six United States officers, had escaped from his temporary home in El Paso last night.

The escape of Orozco caused Juarez authorities to telegraph to Villa for assistance. The latter, in turn, telegraphed to the United States border guard being increased and in messages being sent from Juarez to the Chamber of Commerce requesting some artillery here, as an attack upon Juarez is confidently expected on Orozco and a force that is said to be on its way to the city for him by Gen.
Blazquez near Juarez.

Huerta's message to the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court is as follows:
"I have the honor to call to your attention the following: That officers and representatives of the judicial branch of the government in this city, without just cause or reason, have imposed on me and my family life here. I am already under arrest here under charges and have deposited a bond with the local authorities. Now I have been rearrested.
"I respectfully ask an order from your court that my representatives here be instructed to tell me of the charges I am to perform and the conduct I am to pursue in order that henceforth they may leave my family unmolested."

Huerta is Sarcastic.
When taken from the Federal building to the jail Huerta exclaimed sarcastically: "I was never so honored in my life."

Huerta had $30 in his pockets when arrested. He is reported to have wired his brothers in New York to-day to send him $20,000. He refused to surrender to the police, but handed it over to Lieut. Shellenberger, military governor of El Paso, and said:
"Give it to the poor." He also gave Lieutenant Shellenberger some jewelry and trinkets and asked him to give them to his daughter, Lieut. Shellenberger refused to give the General's money away.
The prisoners were locked in a cell.
During the morning (three o'clock) Lieut.
Pinkey was asked by Commissioner Hera whether he would be removed with the rest of the prisoners, and Officer Pinkey replied that no matter what the sum might be the surveillance would remain the same.

"I am here," said Huerta, striking his chest, "complying with the justice of the United States. I am very respectful to the justice of this country. I wish to know that I am being guarded about my house and coming into my house and demanding the arrest of my friends who happen to be in the neighborhood to come to visit me."

Treated Better in N. Y.

"I have been in New York city and other American cities and everywhere I have received respectful treatment and no instance has there been anything to win the reproach from any of the American people from my behavior or conduct."
"I have occupied the highest official Continued on Eighth Page.

THE SUN TO-DAY CONSISTS OF SEVEN SEC- TIONS, AS FOLLOWS

	Pages.
FIRST—General News	10
SECOND—Sporting, Auto- mobiles, Kennels	16
THIRD—Semi-weekly Articles, For- eign, Art, Drama, Books, Queries, Chess	8
FOURTH—Pictorial Magazine and the War Illustrated	8
FIFTH—Special Feature Maga- zine and Fashions	12
SIXTH—News of the Summer Re- sorts	8
SEVENTH—Special Features, Real Estate, Gardens, Poul- try, Schools, Financial, Problems	8
Total	60

Readers or newsdealers who do not receive all of these sections will confer a favor on "The Sun" by notifying the Publication Department at once by the phone (2300 Beckman) and the missing sections will be promptly forwarded if possible.

FORD PLANS MODEL CITY FOR WORKERS

Auto Maker Also to Have Fleet of Boats for Ore and Products.

TO MAKE OWN TIRES TOO

DETROIT, July 3.—The erection of a factory in which all tires used on Ford automobiles will be manufactured and the building of a blast furnace and a motor plant, all to be surrounded by a model city for the employees, are among several projects to be undertaken soon, according to an announcement made by Henry Ford to-day.

For some time Mr. Ford has been considering means to prevent the waste which comes from the reduction of iron into "pigs" and the melting of the "pigs" to be poured into moulds for the making of castings.
Recently he hit upon the idea of operating his own system of ore laden boats from Lake Superior to a dock near Detroit, where the boats might unload their burden in the immediate neighborhood of a blast furnace. The inauguration of such a transportation service and the building of the furnace are among the plans now projected.

"We expect to have our own fleet of boats to carry ore up the River Rouge and transport machines destined to foreign countries through the Welland Canal," Mr. Ford said to-day. "I hope to see the river widened sufficiently to render it navigable."

A large part of the property along the river will be sold to my employees at just about the price which I paid for it. Then I expect to see a model village develop around the new plants.
The $5 a day rate of wages which is in force at our Highland Park plant will be extended to the factories on the Rouge River. I want every employee to have space for a small garden adjoining his home.

"I am much interested in the project to widen the Welland Canal and am hopeful that this improvement will be effected soon. A great ocean going vessel may sail from Detroit direct to France, England, Germany and other countries which we serve and our products will be distributed without unloading."

ITALO-TURKISH BREAK NEAR.

Ambassador to the Porte Gets Warning to Be Ready.

Rome, July 3.—The Italian Ambasador at Constantinople has been warned by the Italian Government to prepare for instant departure and to make all arrangements in case of a diplomatic rupture between the two Governments.

The United States Ambassador is to be asked to look after Italian interests in Turkey, a service already assumed by the United States for Italy in Asia Minor.

ONE OF 12 AMERICANS SURVIVES ARRAS FIGHT

Kenneth Weeks Called Most Potent Bomb, Grenade and Knife User.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

PARIS, July 3.—Private Rockwell, one of the Americans serving in the Foreign Legion, is in Paris for a month's rest after being discharged from the hospital at Arras. He says that of the twelve Americans who entered the action near Arras on May 9 only one was left on the front nine days later. He was Kenneth Weeks, who is described as being the most formidable bomb thrower, grenade and knife artist, and altogether the luckiest man in his regiment.

Of the remaining eleven the whereabouts of three who were wounded in the battle of Arras, including Rockwell, Paxell and Jains. Eight are missing, and of these two were seen lying wounded on the battlefield. They were John Smith and Russell Kelly, who, it may be, were captured.

The First Regiment of the Foreign Legion went into action 4,000 strong and came out with 700 men unattached.
An officer told Rockwell that 800 were killed and 2,500 were wounded and taken prisoners.

J. P. MORGAN SHOT TWICE BY TEACHER OF GERMAN IN CORNELL; SURGEONS FIND BULLETS AND BELIEVE FINANCIER WILL LIVE; ASSAILANT CONFESSES HE SET BOMB TO DESTROY CAPITOL

CAPITOL BOMB PLOT HATCHED A MONTH AGO

Letters Sent to Washington Newspapers Show a Long Laid Scheme.

SIGNER, "R. PEARCE."
BELIEVED TO BE HOLT

Delay in Action Laid to Indecision on the Point of Attack.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The confession of Frank Holt, J. P. Morgan's assailant, that he is responsible for the attempt to blow up the Senate wing of the Capitol is believed by the Washington police.

They accept his statement as clearing away the mystery of the explosion which wrecked the reception room of the Senate chamber late last night.
The local police have not, however, given up their determination to ascertain all the facts in regard to this crime. They are busy trying to trace Holt's movements while he was in Washington. Up to a late hour tonight they had been unable to learn anything definite along this line.

The Washington police also believe now that Holt is the author of letters which were received by two Washington newspapers this morning and which were signed "R. Pearce." These letters indicate on their face that the writer was the man who made the attempt to blow up the Senate wing of the Capitol.

The letters were postmarked at 10 o'clock last night, about two hours before the explosion occurred in the Capitol. Both letters contain references to the planning of that crime.

Similarity of Statements.

Early in the day Washington police were attracted to the similarity of the statements in these letters with the statement made by Holt at Glen Cove in explaining his attack upon Mr. Morgan. They were convinced that the man who fired the shots at Mr. Morgan had the same crazy notions as the man who had placed the explosive in the Senate room.

A remarkable feature about these letters is the exclamation "My appeal for peace," was the way that "R. Pearce" explained his crime in Washington in his letter to local papers.

He warned the papers against at-tributing the explosion to Germans, and added:

"I am an old fashioned American with a conscience."
The letters contained a rambling protest against the sale of arms and ammunition to the belligerents and against the collection of "blood money" by American manufacturers.

A remarkable feature about these letters is that they were dated June 1, 1915. They were typewritten, except for the use of the word "Senate" in referring to the place of explosion. A blank space had been left in the letters and in them the word "Senate" had been printed in by long hand, this sentence reading:

"In connection with the Senate affair, would it not be well to stop and consider what we are doing?"

Planned a Month Ago.

From the date of the letter—June 1—the Washington police believe that Holt or "Pearce," as he signed himself, had been planning for more than a month to blow up some Government building and had prepared the letter before he had decided which one he would select. They believe the word "Senate" was written in after the bomb had been laid in the reception room.
The letters sent to the Washington newspapers were identical. This is the text:

Unusual times and circumstances call for unusual means.

In connection with the Senate affair would it not be well to stop and consider what we are doing?

We stand for peace and good will to all men, and yet, while our European brethren are madly seeking out to kill one another we also them on and furnish them more effective means of murder. Is it right?

We get rich by exportation of explosives, but ought we to enrich ourselves when it means the untold suffering and death of millions of our brethren and their widows and orphans? (By the way, don't put this on the Germans or on Bryan. I am an old fashioned American with a conscience, if it is not a sin to have a conscience.)

The Moral Law.

We are within the international law when we make this blood money, but are we also within the moral law, the law of peace, or of love, or of Christ, or whatever else a Christian nation may call it? Are we within reason?
Our children have to live after us.
Europe helped and encouraged the Balkans in their bestial war, and she reaped the whirlwind. Can't we learn wisdom?

Is it right to supply our insane Continued on Fourth Page.

J. P. Morgan and Frank Holt, who shot him.

HOLT ADMITS HE SET CAPITOL BOMB; MAKES NIGHT CONFESSION TO POLICE

Knowledge of Chemistry
Enables Him to Handle Explosives.

WON'T TELL WHERE HE GOT THE DYNAMITE

MINNEOLA, I. I., July 3.—In the course of a long examination to-night at the hands of Major Pullman of the Washington police Capt. Tunney of the New York city force and Sheriff Stephen C. Pettit of Nassau county, Frank Holt, the would-be assassin of J.
P. Morgan, admitted that it was he who set the bomb which exploded late last night in the Senate reception room of the Capitol.

The interview with him lasted from 9 o'clock until almost 11, and the prisoner, weak from loss of blood caused by the cut on his head, had to be carried into the room in which he was questioned. Newspaper reporters in the corridor could hear his voice, which was faint and husky.

Those present agreed that Holt spoke very rationally, and showed that he is a man of education. He has an unusually facile knack of expression, and his slight German accent increases in direct ratio with his excitement.

Plan Long in Mind.

His account carries his movements back to June 11, when he says he left Ithaca. For several months he had in his mind a plan to bring powerful financiers and manufacturers of this country, and even the national authorities, to a realization that they could not permit American made munitions to be shipped to the Allies.

Then, on June 11, he had arranged to act.

"I went straight to the Mills Hotel 3, at Seventh avenue and Thirty-sixth street," he said. "Then I tried to get some dynamite for I had already thought out a way of making bombs if I could get dynamite."

"I had never made a bomb before, but I knew something about chemistry and I read the sections in the encyclopædia about dynamite and about bombs. This was enough with my knowledge of chemistry."

"I had a lot of trouble getting the dynamite, but I finally got it by paying $30 for six sticks. Three of them I used in the Washington explosion and the other three I brought to Glen Cove with me, one in my pocket and two in my suitcase."

"I came to Glen Cove at noon on Thursday and after inspecting the Morgan premises I went to Washington, arrived there late Thursday evening, and hired a room in a house at the corner of Delaware avenue and Avenue C."

"I had planned the bomb, although

HOLT TELLS WHY HE SHOT MORGAN

FRANK HOLT'S motive in seeking the life of J. P. Morgan is thus set forth in the confession he made to the Justice of the Peace in Minneola.

"I, Frank Holt of Ithaca, New York, and lately professor of German at Cornell, do hereby freely make to William E. Luyster, Justice of the Peace, the following statement of the facts concerning my visit to the home of J. P. Morgan at East Island, Glen Cove, N. Y.

"I have been in New York city about ten days and had made a previous trip to the home of Mr. Morgan last week. My motive in coming here was to try to force Mr. Morgan to use his influence with the manufacturers of munitions in the United States and with the millionaires who are financing the war loans to have an embargo put on shipments of war munitions so as to relieve the American people from complicity in the death of thousands of our European brothers."

"If Germany should be able to buy munitions here we would, of course, positively refuse to sell to her. The reason that the American people have not as yet stopped the shipments seems to be that we are getting rich out of this traffic, but do we not get enough prosperity out of non-contraband shipments? And would it not be better for us to make what money we can without causing the slaughter of Europeans?"

"I am very sorry that I had to cause the Morgan family this unpleasantness, but I believe that if Mr. Morgan would put his shoulder to the wheel he could accomplish what I have endeavored to do. I wanted him to do the work I could not do. I hope that he will do his share anyway. We must stop our participation in the killing of Europeans, and God will take care of the rest."

Just What Happened.

"The dynamite, holding the matches, was placed in a package and above it was placed the bottle of sulphuric acid, turned upside down. I figured that it would take about eight or ten hours for the acid to eat through the cork stopper and this is just what happened."

"I entered the Capitol at the front entrance, carrying the package under my coat. I did not meet a guard or a policeman and no one asked me any questions. I didn't meet anyone to stop me as I walked through the corridors to the room in the Senate wing, where I placed the bomb without disturbance."

"I took a 12:10 train out of Washington, and as the train was leaving I heard the explosion, so I went to sleep in my berth perfectly happy."

"I arrived at the Pennsylvania station at 7 o'clock this morning, went to the Mills Hotel to get my mail, and returned to the station. I took the first train to Glen Cove, arriving at 8:30."

"My mail consisted of a letter from my wife, who is now in Dallas, Tex. I tore it up on the train coming out here."

"When I got here I took the taxicab out to Mr. Morgan's house. I had no intention of killing Mr. Morgan, or even of shooting him. I only wanted to protest because Mr. Morgan could stop the war if he would. I don't know why I shot."

"Where did you get the dynamite?" This question was asked of Holt dozens of times in the course of the interview

Frank Holt, Ph.D., Forces Way Into Glen Cove Home at Pistol Point ---Banker's Wife Joins Him in Fight to Save Lives.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR SEES END OF HAND TO HAND STRUGGLE

Dynamite Falls From Would Be Assassin's Pocket When Blow Fells Him---Says He Hoped to Stop Sale of Arms to Allies.

"Condition of Patient Excellent."

The following bulletin signed by Mr. Morgan's physicians was issued last night at 11 o'clock from the Morgan offices at Broad and Wall streets:

A further examination of Mr. Morgan's wounds shows that the bullets did not involve any vital organ. The condition of the patient continues excellent.

J. W. Markoe,
H. H. M. Lyle,
Glen Cove, N. Y., 6:15 P. M., July 3.

NOTE—There will be no further bulletins to-night as to the condition of the patient, none being regarded as necessary.

Frank Holt, teacher of German in Cornell University, obsessed by the idea that God had appointed him to stop the shipment of war supplies to the Allies, tried to murder J. P. Morgan yesterday morning, after attempting on Friday night to wreck the Capitol at Washington with a dynamite bomb. The New York and Washington police have information which leads them to believe that he planned next to go to Cornish, N. H., and attempt the life of President Wilson.

Holt forced his way into Mr. Morgan's country home on East Island, three and a half miles from Glen Cove, at 9:20 A. M. yesterday, drove the butler before him by the menace of a revolver, searched the house until he found Mr. and Mrs. Morgan on the second floor and then, as Mr. Morgan and Mrs. Morgan attempted to disarm him, fired two shots. No carried sticks of dynamite also to use if the chance offered.

One bullet entered the lower right hand side of Mr. Morgan's abdomen and lodged near the base of the spine. The other pierced the right groin, ranged downward through the flesh of the thigh and passed out of Mr.
Morgan's body.

The financier, who as head of the banking house which is the purchasing agent of the British Government had become an object for Holt's attack, is dangerously but probably not fatally wounded. This was the opinion, at least, of members of Mr. Morgan's family, of several of his partners and of his friends who had heard the report of the surgeons who examined his injuries and who probed successfully for the bullet which entered the abdomen.

He owes his life very probably to the courage and quickness of Mrs.
Morgan, who, the first to detect Holt lurking in the shadows of the upper hallway, literally flung herself at the man and so disturbed his aim that he had no opportunity to shoot straight. She risked her life without an instant's hesitation in an effort to protect her husband.

Mr. Morgan himself overpowered Holt, and with the help of servants tied him and trussed him after the Morgan butler, Henry Physick, had thumped him soundly over the head with the first handy weapon available, a lump of coal. Then Mr. Morgan, after calmly assuring his house guests, the British Ambassador and Lady Spring-Rice, who had seen a part of the desperate struggle on the second floor landing, that he was not badly hurt, and after telephoning to his mother and to William H. Porter, one of his partners, himself telephoned to Dr. William H. Zabriske of Glen Cove, simply telling Dr. Zabriske that he had been shot and asking Dr. Zabriske to come at once to the house.

Holt, who had been roughly handled by the Morgan servants in the business of subduing him and tying him up, was taken first to the jail at Glen Cove, where he was questioned by Justice of the Peace William E.
Luyster and by Assistant District Attorney Charles R. Weeks of Nassau county.

Holt's Statement.

To Justice of the Peace William E.
Luyster, after describing himself as "a Christian gentleman," made the following statement, made it without any approach to agitation or regret, and ending with the utmost precision and calmness:

"I, Frank Holt, of Ithaca, N. Y., and lately professor of German at Cornell, do hereby freely make to William E. Luyster, Justice of the Peace, the following statement of the facts concerning my visit to the home of J. P. Morgan at East Island, Glen Cove, N. Y.

"I have been in New York city about ten days and had made a previous trip to the home of Mr. Morgan last week. My motive in coming here was to try to force Mr. Morgan to use his influence with the manufacturers of munitions in the United States and with the millionaires who are financing the war loans, to have an embargo put on shipments of war munitions so as to relieve the American people from complicity in the death of thousands of our European brothers."

"If Germany should be able to buy munitions here we would of course positively refuse to sell to her. The reason that the American people have not as yet stopped the shipments seems to be that we are getting rich out of this traffic, but do we not get enough prosperity out of non-contraband shipments? And would it not be better for us to make what money we can without causing the slaughter of Europeans?"

"I am very sorry that I had to cause the Morgan family this unpleasantness, but I believe that if Mr. Morgan would put his shoulder to the wheel he could accomplish what I have endeavored to do. I wanted him to do the work I could not do. I hope that he will do his share anyway. We must stop our participation in the killing of Europeans, and God will take care of the rest."

Enters Not Guilty Plea.

While the surgeons in the great house on East Island were working over Mr. Morgan and automobiles carrying the financier's relatives and friends were spinning about the beautiful road from Glen Cove to the Morgan home, Holt, three miles in a car, was being arraigned for assault with intent to kill in the Glen Cove court house. Whether from the effect of the butler's blow or whether he was pretending mental and physical weakness he answered stupidly.
He would plead not guilty and was re-mandered to the jail at Minneola to await further examination at Glen Cove on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

It was after Holt was taken to Minneola that Capt. Thomas Tunney of the New York Detective Bureau, who hurried to Glen Cove after the Washington police had intimated that Holt was probably the same man who had tried to wreck the Capitol on Friday night, obtained from Capt. Holt a confession that he set off the Capitol bomb.

From what was gathered by Capt.
Tunney the deliberate purpose of Holt was to kill and kill, three was in a conspired to stop or discourage the exportation of war munitions. Every act of the man was committed deliberately, shrewdly, cunningly. He is highly educated, of course, and all the resources of an unusually keen mind were brought to bear in a murderous and destructive purpose.

Had Names of Family.

Not only, it appears, had he planned to blow up the Capitol at Washington, to kill Mr. Morgan and presumably to assassinate President Wilson, but he had obtained a list of the members of Mr. Morgan's family. A scrap of paper was found in his pocket which bore these names and addresses: "Junius Spencer Morgan, Camp Udels."
"Jane Norton, Glen Cove."
"Frances Tracy."
"Henry Spurgeon." Junius Spencer Morgan is the son of J. P. Morgan. Jane Norton Grew